Engine Oil Change Case

Lubrication

Refer to Engine Oil specifications in Section I for lubricant recommendations.

Checking Lubricant Level

With engine not load-gassed, check oil level daily or every 10 hours of operation and replace, if necessary, to maintain level between FULL-COLD exactly on dip stick. To remove dip stick on gasoline and diesel models, turn handle counter-clockwise and remove. Check oil level when engine is stopped. If engine has been in operation, be sure to allow sufficient time for oil to drain from pan before checking level. Dip stick and filter housing is on left side of engine except on LP gas models where dip stick is on left side of engine and oil filter housing is on right side.

Changing Lubricant

Crankcase oil change frequency depends heavily upon working conditions. Under normal operating conditions check gasoline or diesel engine oil every 200 hours of operation and LP gas engine oil every 100 hours of operation. Change oil more often when tractor is operated during winter months or in extreme short conditions.

Remove drain plug and drain oil while engine is warm so that oil will flow freely. Reinstall drain plug and refill crankcase with recommended lubricant.

Engine Oil Filter Change

Gasoline and LP Gas

Remove and discard gasoline or LP gas engine oil filter element every second oil change. Remove element from base by turning counter-clockwise. Lubricate rubber gasket on new element, part number 169-112-A, with heavy oil or grease prior to installation. Thread element into base, turning clockwise no more than one-half turn after gasket has contacts base. Check and replace engine oil level after initial operation whenever an element is replaced and check for leakage.

Magic as a Political Crime in Medieval and Early Modern England Francis Young, 2020-01-23 Treason and magic were first linked together during the reign of Edward II Theories of occult conspiracy then regularly led to major political scandals such as the trial of Eleanor Cobham Duchess of Gloucester in 1441 While accusations of magical treason against high ranking figures were indeed a staple of late medieval English power politics they acquired new significance at the Reformation when the superstition embodied by magic came to be associated with proscribed Catholic belief Francis Young here offers the first concerted historical analysis of allegations of the use of magic either to harm or kill the monarch or else manipulate the course of political events in England between the fourteenth century and the dawn of the Enlightenment His book addresses a subject usually either passed over or elided with witchcraft a quite different historical phenomenon He argues that while charges of treasonable magic certainly were used to destroy reputations or to ensure the convictions of undesirables magic was also perceived as a genuine threat by English governments into the Civil War era and beyond
