New Nature Architectural Conditions Between:

A New Nature Anders Abraham, 2015 A New Nature is a book about architecture as the organization of material It unfolds an idea of working with architecture and urbanity as conditions rather than form By experiencing cities and cultural landscapes as states of change the author investigates their degree of organization between order and chaos When we design and build buildings naturally we need to enter into an already existing context Even so many houses simply stand alone side by side rather than identifying themselves with and becoming a part of the urbanity that connects and creates cohesion in the culturally created the new nature The first part of the book develops an architectural language that connects material and meaning through nine states between liquid and solid in order to achieve a qualified and sustainable approach to understanding the modern city in its continuous transformation The book's second part documents a number of project proposals and realized works that illustrate the usage of this architectural idiom Including precise drawings and models A New Nature introduces a new kind of spatial investigation The Oxford Conference Susan Roaf, Andrew Bairstow, 2008 50 years after the first Oxford Conference on Architectural Education the 2008 conference brought together over 500 people from 42 countries to share best practice discuss how when where and why we teach architecture now and in the future

Design and Nature VI S. Hernandez, C. A. Brebbia, 2012 Throughout history many leading thinkers have been inspired by the parallels between nature and human design in mathematics engineering and other areas Today the huge increase in biological knowledge developments in design engineering systems together with the growth in computer power and developments in simulation modelling have all made possible more comprehensive studies of nature Conference topics include the following Mechanics in nature Nature and architecture Natural materials and processes Solutions from nature Biomimetics and bio inspiration Biocapacity Education in design and nature Competition in nature Biological engineering Constructional theory Locomotion in nature Gravitational biology Self sustaining environments It is these developments which have prompted the reconvening of this international conference on Design and Nature It is intended that the meeting will bring together researchers from around the world working on a variety of studies involving nature and their significance for modern scientific thought and design Designing the Rural Joshua Bolchover, John Lin, Christiane Lange, 2017-03-03 The rural is not what it used to be No longer simply a site for agricultural production for the city the relationship between the rural and urban has become much more complex Established categories such as rural urban and village city no longer hold true Rural and urban conditions have become increasingly blurred so how can we identify and distinguish their specific characteristics Where is the rural and what role does it play in an urbanised world In developing countries the countryside is a volatile and contradictory landscape legally designated rural areas look like dense slums factories intersect fields and farmers no longer farm In contrast in developed regions the rural has become a highly controlled landscape of production and consumption industrialised agriculture coexists with leisure landscapes for tourism retirement and recreation This issue of AD investigates how architects and researchers are critically engaging with the rural as an experimental field of exploration Contributors Neil Brenner Christiane Lange Charlotte Malterre Barthes Sandra Parvu Cole Roskam Grahame Shane Deane Simpson and Milica Topalovic and Bas Princen Architects Anders Abraham Joshua Bolchover and John Lin Rural Urban Framework Ambra Fabi and Giovanni Piovane Piovenefabi Rainer Hehl Stephan Petermann OMA Huang Sheng Yuan FieldOffice and Sandeep Virmani Hunnarshala

Media Architecture Alexander Wiethoff, Heinrich

Hussmann, 2017-02-20 The augmentation of urban spaces with technology commonly referred to as Media Architecture has found increasing interest in the scientific community within the last few years At the same time architects began to use digital media as a new material apart from concrete glass or wood to create buildings and urban structures Simultaneously Human Computer Interaction HCI researchers began to exploit the interaction opportunities between users and buildings and to bridge the gaps between interface information medium and architecture As an example they extended architectural structures with interactive light emitting elements on their outer shell thereby transforming the surfaces of these structures into giant public screens At the same time the wide distribution of mobile devices and the coverage of mobile internet allow manifold interaction opportunities between open data and citizens thereby enabling the internet of things in the public domain However the appropriate distribution of information to all citizens is still cumbersome and a mutual dialogue not always successful i.e. who gets what data and when In this book we therefore provide a deeper investigation of Using Information and Media as Construction Material with media architecture as an input and output medium concurrently negotiated future urbanism This edited volume provides a collection of innovative design research projects based on shared notions of Chasing the City through three bodies of strategic frameworks 1 Mapping 2 Resource and 3 Typology This structure ultimately allows readers as fellow urban detectives access to exploratory tools and methods of detection that accumulate from our environs both practical and projective in our chase of the city Proceedings of the ...
