The Storm of Creativity Kyna Leski, 2015-11-13 The stages of the creative process from unlearning to beginning again seen through examples from the practice of artists architects poets and others Although each instance of creativity is singular and specific Kyna Leski tells us the creative process is universal Artists architects poets inventors scientists and others all navigate the same stages of the process in order to discover something that does not yet exist All of us must work our way through the empty page the blank screen writer's block confusion chaos and doubt In this book Leski draws from her observations and experiences as a teacher student maker writer and architect to describe the workings of the creative process Leski sees the creative process as being like a storm it slowly begins to gather and take form until it overtakes us if we are willing to let it It is dynamic continually in motion it starts stops rages and abates ebbs and flows In illustrations that accompany each chapter she maps the arc of the creative process by tracing the path of water droplets traveling the stages of a storm Leski describes unlearning ridding ourselves of preconceptions only when we realize what we don't know can we pose the problem that we need to solve We gather evidence with notebook jottings research the collection of objects propelling the process We perceive and conceive we look ahead without knowing where we are going we make connections We pause retreat and stop only to start again To illustrate these stages of the process Leski draws on examples of creative practice that range from Paul Klee to Steve Jobs from the discovery of continental drift to the design of Antoni Gaudí's Sagrada Família Creativity Leski tells us is a path with no beginning or end it is ongoing This revelatory view of the creative process will be an essential guide for anyone engaged in creative discovery
